

Supplying Lanvin and Jean Patou with innovative cashmere fabrics in the Twenties, this Parisian knitwear house, founded in 1918, is now under the creative leadership of Mali Marciano. Adventuring in Mongolia inspired her debut collection of ponchos and playsuits.

Mali's favourite lazy Sunday: 'A great breakfast at Cocomaya near Hyde Park followed by a warm bath and going back to bed with a bunch of magazines.'

January essential: 'A cinnamon filled galette de rois, or King Cake, which traditionally concludes the festive season.'

Soundtrack for 2016: 'Hang On To Your Love by Sade.'

